

Sahra
Soudi

In light of the COVID-19 pandemic and the many examples of institutional failures before that, we keep us safe is a sentiment that has been echoed across the globe. From disabled people being left behind, to the violent evictions of unhoused communities, and migrant workers fighting for more fair working conditions. Capitalism has been the bane of our collective resistance. Despite this challenge, I continue to feel called to fight for better futures alongside my communities. Over the years I have come to understand that my role as an artist is to inspire others to feel called as well.

WE

KEEP

US

SAFE